Respondent Support Services

Dear Student,

My name is Maddie Cairns, and I serve as the Respondent Support Services Coordinator for the University of California, Santa Cruz. We look forward to welcoming you back to UCSC. As part of your return, it is imperative that you complete all necessary steps to re-enrollment and your return to UCSC. This document serves as a personal checklist to determine what steps you should take, and any other supporting documentation necessary for your success. The first step to your return is to follow the readmission process.

Your readmission application must be completed by the deadline (typically one quarter) prior to your acceptance and return to campus. For information surrounding the readmission process, please see readmission.ue.ucsc.edu and the UCSC Respondent Transition Guide on respondent.ucsc.edu.

Lastly, part of your return to UCSC requires you to have completed sanctions. You are also required to meet with a university administrator as part of your sanctions, where you can access your progress related to sanctions.

I understand you may have questions and concerns about returning to the university, so I will be reaching out after you review and receive this document for our initial return meeting. Good luck, and welcome back to UC Santa Cruz.

Best regards,

Maddie Cairns

RESPONDENT SUPPORT SERVICES: RE-ENTRY GUIDEBOOK

Please review the information included. We wish you a positive and successful future as you navigate your return.

All of the labels below are links to the direct websites.

COMPLETE BEFORE RE-ENTRY

Respondent Support Services

As you prepare for your return to campus, please meet with the RSS Coordinator so they can assist you with understanding the guidebook and discuss any questions you may have about navigating your return.

Student Conduct

One sanction required for suspended students is to meet with a university administrator such as student conduct. Reach out to conduct@ucsc.edu to schedule your return meeting.

College Advising

In order to return to the university you have to have an approved academic plan. Review the UCSC Colleges Readmission Page and meet with your college academic adviser to help you complete the requirements. You should ideally do this before you reapply and plan to return.

Readmission App

Filling out your readmission application by the deadline is critical to your return. Applications are typically due the quarter before your return. You should meet with RSS and college advising to learn more about this application.

On Campus Resources

As you return to UCSC, you might have questions on some of the services available to you during this time. Below are a few essentials to make sure you stay on track as a successful student!

- SLUG Support: The SLUG Support team supports students in identifying concerns related to crisis, finances, and basic needs. University administrators, such as Respondent Support Services, can reach out to SLUG Support on ones behalf to give students additional resources.
 - Reach out at deanofstudents.ucsc.edu/sluginformation/support/program

- Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS): CAPS provides multiple types of resources for students, including counseling and group counseling. CAPS can refer you to community counselors who take your insurance.
 - Reach out at caps.ucsc.edu or call at (831) 459-2628

- College Advising: Students are encouraged to reach out to their college and schedule an advising appointment to determine how to stay on track for graduation and meet undergraduate requirements.
 - Reach out at advising.ucsc.edu/about/colleges-advising

- Major Advising: Major advising serves to make sure students are fulfilling major requirements related to the completion of their degree.
 - Reach out at advising.ucsc.edu/about/major-advising/major-links

- Financial Aid: Financial Aid is a critical aspect of ones return to UCSC. For students who are receiving Financial Aid, you may need to meet with your Financial Aid advisor to determine any additional steps to receiving aid after suspension.
 - Reach out at financialaid.ucsc.edu

- Community Rentals: Some students lose on-campus housing as a result of sanctions. For assistance finding off-campus living, see the Community Rentals page and visit the Housing Registry for resources and how to plan for your future living situation.
 - Reach out at communityrentals.ucsc.edu
